

Jennifer Rose

Original Rock Music.

Recently recorded three songs with Producer/Engineer Mikal Blue (Sony) and working toward funding to record the remainder of her upcoming CD, "Faith, Love & Rock 'n Roll". The single "What if?" is receiving radio play in connection to recent tragic events in the USA and around the world. Lyrics & melodies for another 20+ songs are nearing completion.

"I wrote 'What if?' to inspire peace. I'm heartbroken to hear about the countless acts of violence that take place daily. I am posting my song, "What if?" to promote peace, healing and love. Sending out my love into the world today and always." – Jennifer Rose

Personal experience make the best lyrics and Jennifer's lyrics touch on life, death & conquering the unknown, often served with a side of playful attitude. However, underlying the stories are messages of inspiration & empowerment, of living life on your own terms, overcoming whatever or whoever attempts to keep you down. Of believing in miracles & dreams-come-true, but most importantly, being the catalyst that makes them come true. Life IS the journey and the size of the obstacles define how great your achievements. If you can see it, you can achieve it. And the stars in the sky burn very clearly these days.

As always, each of Jennifer's lyrics are woven with a well-defined soundtrack in her mind. As a classically trained vocalist, Jennifer likes her songs melodic using a wide dynamic range with soaring melodies and anthemic choruses. For "Faith, Love & Rock 'n Roll" the music will be modern rock with occasional flavorings from a variety of other genres ranging from pop to gospel. If you listen closely you may also hear an occasional nod to a few recently discovered influential sounds from the 70's.

From a very early age music was everything to me. There was nothing else that I cared so deeply about. It was more than just a way for me to express myself whenever I was happy, sad, lonely, love struck, angry, etc. I never thought about fame, only how amazing it would be to make my whole world about music.

Although I am a classically trained vocalist and have performed & recorded in a dozen different genres, I love Rock! Rock comes with a different attitude than other genres. Rock represents strength, an attitude that says "I live my life for ME, on MY own terms. As a female artist it is important to me that I write songs that appeal to both sexes and that I write with a strong opinion & stance.

CD: Alone & Unsupervised

To finish things off for this month I'd like you to cast your mind back to last year and a rather impressive demo from Jennifer Rose (c'mon, admit it, you remember the picture if nothing else). Well, she's back and back with a very impressive debut album called "Alone & Unsupervised". If ever Debbie Harry got into bed with Lemmy (hey, they're of a similar age, stranger things have happened) then lil' Jen would be their bitchin' offspring. This girl was born to rock and this album is the livin' proof. Songwise, it's comparable to the likes of Lita Ford or Pat Benatar but better than anything that these two ever recorded in the last fifteen years. It's intelligent hard rock that never takes itself too seriously. I loved this album and you can check it out at www.JenniferRoseRocks.com

CD: Alone & Unsupervised

...(edited)... Her (Jennifer Rose) debut album Alone & Unsupervised is really a great rock album, and it's not every day female rock artists of this caliber shows up and impress me like this! Musically this is a mix of Hard Rock, Classic Rock and Glam Rock with a lot of energy and power from Jennifer Rose! I have missed a rocking girl like this, and have to go back many years in my record collection to find such a great album like this! ... enjoy some really great addictive, memorable hard rocking songs of the finest mark!

CD: Alone & Unsupervised

Jennifer Rose

Original Rock Music.

When I put Ms. Rose's CD in my player for the first time my immediate thoughts were quite simple & straightforward: another gal going the path of the rock-chick, a blending of Blondie's mainstream capabilities & the hard rocking side of Pink. After a few spins however I discovered there was more than met my eye on that initial encounter, which is already more than a handful, by the way.

Ms. Rose is rocking slightly harder than the competition. Just put on 'Toe 2 Toe', an AC/DC-styled rocker with a voice heavily reminiscent of a young Pat Benatar and you'll understand perfectly what I'm getting at here. Or listen to 'I Go A Little Mental' where the relentless rocking is putting most of her male counterparts to full-on shame. I'm glad to say that Jennifer Rose provided us with a very refreshing, hard hittin' release in an otherwise very dull musical year.

CD: Alone & Unsupervised

"I'm going to finish the month with a bang (I should be so lucky). All of you people that have been starved of some good, honest, female fronted hard rock can look no further than America's Jennifer Rose. This peroxide powerhouse has come out fighting with a very impressive four-track demo that will evoke memories of Joan Jett, Lita Ford and Pat Benatar. She should also appeal to the likes of Kelly Clarkson's and Pink's audience as she has a similar tempo, only with a heavier delivery. She looks good, she's got memorable songs and she rocks. What more could you ask for? Her phone number, maybe? I like this chick. The music industry needs more like her."
